

Get a flight on your phone

BY SHADRACK MAAKE

ONLINE shopping has become a big hit with South Africans. The most purchased items are groceries, ringtones and music.

At the moment, credit cards are the chosen method of online payment.

But now you can buy airplane tickets with your cellphone.

A deal between First National Bank and Mango airlines now allows banking customers to buy Mango tickets. It's also started a new way for people to shop online without needing credit cards.

The service is free of bank charges, but the customer must be a registered FNB cellphone banking user.